Our City.

The Whig Nominations are now complete, and but seven days remain for preparation. The Eighth is the day of Election, when NEW-YORK CITY MUST GO WHIG. She will, if all the Whigs do their duty meantime. Our County Ticket is strikingly superior in character, capacity and fitness to that presented by our opponents. Let any man compare the names and judge between them. The disparity must strike every candid citizen. In fact, the managers in the name of our opponents betray a consciousness that the Ticket they have concocted does not deserve the support of their own party. Otherwise, why this hanging back with regard to their General Meeting? Why was not their Ticket been long since submitted to the usual law by the Mayor, the old story about the filthy arbitrament at Tammany Hall?

But this is not the ground on which we base our nents, because their own immediate interest, their very livelihood, is dependent on the maintenance of the Whig policy. Every man who lives by Labor in our City has a deep and imminent stake in the maintenance of a PROTECTIVE TARIFF. The Hatters, Tailors, Shoemakers, Weavers, &c. &c. have a direct and palpable interest in the maintenance of the New Tariff, which shuts out the rival articles-heretofere thrown in against them from Europe, the produce of the cheap vassal Labor of that Continent, and gives additional and steadier employment to our own workmen. The Laborers in other vocations have a less direct but equally positive interest in the same way; for if these branches are allowed to be glutted with the products of Foreign Labor, those who new live by them among us will be driven into other employments to procure the necessaries of life, and thus the amount of work and the wages of Labor will be greatly reduced. Every ship which arrives here from Europe loaded with Manufactured organized the 11th of May. Goods, such as we can produce here, throws at least one thousand of our own Laborers out of work for the winter, and reduces generally the wages of American Labor. We, therefore, rejoice when one of the Posts groams that ships are coming from Europe in ballast to buy our Cotton and Tobacco, that the rate of Exchange is in our favor, and Specie constantly flowing to this country. It proves that a better state of things is preparing for our own Laborers, our own Producers, and even for our own Commerce. Let us pay off some of our Foreign Debt, reinforce our Cur rency with Specie, and get things in a better train at home, before we resort again to lavish importations. Before we buy again freely, let us become more able to pay.

Such, we are sure, is the interest of our Working People; such, we are confident, is their desire. It only needs that some friend shall call upon each candid, unprejudiced Working-Man who is likely to vote against us, and state to him the views and relative position of the two parties. They will vote right if the facts are fairly before them. Especially must this be the case with the GERMANS now settled and naturalized among us. They are familiar with the great question of Protection, since it has been for twenty years discussed and acted on in their Fatherland. They cannot vote against Protection, if the question is fairly placed before them. They must stand by the cause of American Labor and American prices.

Friends of the Good Cause! Each of you knows some one by whom the words of truth would even vet be heeded. Will you not speak with him on the subject, fortifying your positions with documents if he will read them? We have in THY AMERICAN LABORER a treasury of facts and arguments which no clear, unprejudiced mind can re sist. But there are other documents equally convincing-the first Speech of Mr. Hudson, for instance, if you have preserved a file of The Tribune. Fail not, we entreat you, to act efficiently and speedily, and New-York will resume her preper place at the head of the Whig Cities of the

GEORGE TUCKERMAN, an independent Farmer of Richfield, Otsego County, is the Whig candidate for Congress in the Twenty-first District composed of Otsego and Schoharie Counties We have good advices from that District.

The Mayor and the Evening Post.

In May our efficient Mayor could not conscien tiously swear in the Alderman and Assistant whom he knew the People of the Sixth Ward had elected. because the returns were not perfectly in form; but he could muster his Watchmen and other officials to bludgeon them out of the Council-rooms if they attempted to take the seats to which the People had chosen them. At the very moment that he was thus disorganizing and arresting the City Government on the pretence of a reverence for the strict letter of the law, it now appears that he now ordering a subordinate to take $5,000 of moneys he had collected for the City and apply it to the Cleaning of Streets, not only without a shadow of authority, but in utter defiance of the most sacred and necessary principles of Republican Government. No meney had been appropriated for this purpose-no pretence of authority exists for such appropriation by the Mayor-he had just as good a right to order that the City Treasury be emptied into the middle of the Ocean.

But the money went; and now the Whig Common Council are on the track. "Sirs," says the ex-Superintendent of Streets, "I spent it all for the public good; here is my account balanced in my way, by means of the notes of Tom, Dick. and Harry, which I have taken for City property sold by me." This does not satisfy the investigators; they say, "We thought the Whig Credit System had been discarded by you Loco-Foeos; we understand you to be opposed to mixing up the Government with private persons' business: tit is now nearly six months since you had these dealings; and if they are not fictitious, intended to conceal defalcations, just collect the notes you have taken, and pay over what you owe the City. At any rate, Mr. Mayor, there is no mistake as to your liability. Fork over that $5,000 that you unlawfully diverted from the Treasury." But the money does not come; and the Post may bluster about "trick" and "falsehood" till dooms day without convincing any one that this was 'a fair business transaction.' No paper knows better than the Post the limitations of official power, or has a keener regard for them when the offender is not of its own party.

The Annual Course of Lectures before the NEW-YORK LYCEUM commences to-morrow evening with an Introductory by Rev. Dr. S. H. Cox. whose ability and eminence, both as a scholar and a speaker, are 'known of all men' in this region. His Lecture will doubtless more than interest-in will instruct and elevate his hearers. The reader will remark among the Lecturers for this season the names of George Bancroft, Hon. Levi WOODBURY, HOB. RUFUS CHOATE, Prof. POTTER, CHARLES EAMES, and several of our most eminent Clerical thinkers and scholars. The Lectures of this Society have ever heretofore given decided and general gratification to large audiences, and we trust they will continue so to do. Gentlemen who do not wish to pay twice as much as necessary will see the propriety of purchasing tickets for the season, before the Introductory is given.

The Evening Post of yesterday-utterly unable to gainsay or deny a single statement of the Committee as put forth in the Extra Tribune of Saturday-undertakes to defend the Mayor by misstating the facts in the first instance; by positive untruth in the second, and then repeating as an excuse for the utter disregard and violation of the condition of the streets, &c.

The charge of the Committee, the charge of the confidence of an auspicious result in the City on People vs. the Mayor is, that, without authoritynext Tuesday. We believe the People will vote nay, more, in direct, gross, palpable violation of to execute, he caused a subordinate officer to pay over $5000 of the money in his hands (which belonged to the City, and which he was bound by law and his oath to pay into the hands of the City Treasurer,) into the hands of the Mayor, and that he, the Mayor, appropriated and paid away the money as he thought best. We challenge the Post to deny that such was the case-and that it was an open and flagrant violation of the law.

The Post next says, in order to introduce the old excuse of the Mayor for breaking the law, that "from the 11th of May last until the 16th of July, ewing to disputed seats of an Alderman and an Assistant, the City Government was not organized.' If this is not a misstatement, we know not what is, and the only answer we will give, in case there should be any one stupid or ignorant enough to credit it, is the decision of the Supreme Court on 31st of May, and of the Court of Errors on the 2d July, that the Common Council was duly

The Post concludes with this very wise para-

"We have not been able to examine into the facts out o which other charges of defaication are manufactured. From this statement of the charges made against the Mayor our paders may form a judgement of what confidence can be placed in the other charges."

We care not, Mr. Post, whether you have "been able to examine into the facts or not," but we challenge you to deny or disprove the truth of the statements contained in the Extra Tribune of the enormous defalcations and robberies, the gross violations of Law and the Frauds of the men whom the Post has been not the least instrumental in advancing to places of high public trust. The readers of the Post, to whom he appeals in the last sentence, must be very thick headed if they can be led by such prevarications and false inferences, to believe that the People have not been plundered and cheated by the Tom Lleyds, the Stevensons, the Aherns, the Prices, and scores of others of their stamp, to the tune of thousands of thousands of dollars. And the end is not yet.

SAD ACCIDENT .- Little Rock, Arkansas, has been recently the scene of great excitement and o a violent death. It seems that some dozen per sons had been arrested on charge of having committed robberies, burglaries, acts of incendiarism counterfeiting, &c., and that one of them, a desperate fellow named William Caldwell, escaped from custody. The city was greatly alarmed and guards were posted in the principal places. On the night of the 7th, two separate guards were stationed at the house of Caldwell-neither being aware of the presence of the other. The night was very dark and wet, and two of the men, one of each guard, named N. B. Thomasson and E. Y. Baker, misteek each other for Caldwell; and after a little quarrel by words-Thomason fired at Bakerland killed him, supposing him to be Caldwell. It was purely accidental but created great

DR. BUCHANAN'S LECTURE .- A small but intelligent audience listened last evening at Clinton Hall to a lecture from Dr. Buchanan, on what he calls the 'Science of Neurology.' He spoke. first, of the fact that, notwithstanding all our knowledge of the mechanical working of the different organs of the animal frame, we are entirely ignorant of the source of power-the moving springs of life-the vital principle-the dynamics of the system. Phrenology, he thought, had made some light advance toward this, but its deductions were ncorrect in several important respects: Equal quantities of brain of like quality often exist with totally dissimilar mental and moral characters. In his unprejudiced investigations into the truth of Phrenology, Dr. Buchanan said he had discarded portions of its tenets and adopted others, until he found himself constructing a new system. His first aim was to discover some direct method of testing the truth of Phrenology, without resorting to the laborious and interminable process of dissection and observation of various heads. The functions of other parts of the system were determined by suspending them: thus we knew, by closing and opening the eye, that it was an organ of light, &c. He wished in some way to make similar experiments with the brain; but this was not possible in the ordinary way-of removing a portion to see what function was thereby suspended. This had been attempted, especially by the French; but with very partial success. Galvanism readily occurred to him, but for various reasons this also was found to be not feasible. Blisters, intense heat. &c., though they would effect the object of exciting any desired part, were evidently out of the nuestion. He had found, however, another agent. which he called Nevaura, or the nervous fluid. It was an influence similar to animal magnetism. produced by placing the hand upon any portion of the head. Sleep was thus frequently produced by pressing the fingers upon that portion of the head between the eyes, and the Doctor related several instances of his success in this as well as other experiments-such as reducing or increasing the muscular power, &c. He had also succeeded in exciting particular phrenological organs, as those of color, calculation, reverence, &c. By thus determining that an influence passed from the hand through the system, which could effect these results, he said we evidently possessed the key to the whole Physiology and Psychology of Man. What this nervous fluid is, (if it does in fact exist,) whence it comes, what are its nature and laws, what is the precise mode in which it operateshow, in short, it leads us to a distinct understanding of the relation of the mind to the body, and gives us a key to all Anthropology, spiritual and material, we suppose he will explain hereafter, as he did not do it last evening. His statements, however, and the experiments by which he verifies them, are highly interesting and worthy of attentive study.

A horrible murder was committed in Fredonia. Chautauque Co. by a man named Sanderson, supposed to have been deranged, on a boy only 14 years old. The two were at work together in a barn husking corn, and from the marks on the body it is supposed Sanderson must have murdered the boy with a pitchfork-as there were some sixty holes in the body made by that instrument. The murderer buried his victim under the barn. He had not been arrested, though the Buffalo Commercial, in which we find the account, says that an active pursuit had been commenced.

The Richmond Star says that a black woman on Church hill, on the 25th, hung her own child about 4 years old.

FIRE. - A fire broke out this morning about 2 'clock, in the grocery store of Mr. Jacob Smith. at the corner of 120th-street and Third-avenue. and entirely destroyed that and the two adjoining buildings, all good two story frame houses. The flames were so rapid that Mr. Smith and his clerk, who lodged in the store, had time only to escape with a part of their cloths, not being able to save his books or any part of his stock of goods. Mr. Folsom, who resided in the adjoining house and occupied the lower part as a dry goods and fancy store, lost nearly every thing; the flames pursued him so closely that he could not save his noney drawer, which he was unable to reach .-Two of the buildings were owned by Mr. Raynor. one of which was insured. Mr. Folsom as well as Mr. Smith was partly insured. [Com. Adv.

ANOTHER COLLISION .- The steamer Chautauque ran foul of and sunk the schooner Lodi, Capt. Tubbs, last night, somewhere in the vicinity of Sturgeon Point. The Lodi was bound for Conneaut, and had on boad 24 packages of merchandise to Mr. Hall, 14 for Mr. Ford, and a few barrels of salt to the master. The articles lost consist of tea, coffee, spices, crockery, and other perishable commodities. [Buffalo Com.

FATAL ACCIDENT .- Mr. William Tew, an old and respectable citizen of Townsend, Sandusky County, Ohio, was killed accidentally on Thursday last. There was a thrashing machine in operation in his barn, and while going up on the scaffold, or throwing down wheat, he fell upon the machine. His arms were drawn into it, which, with his head and side, were so injured, that he lived but about three hours. He was nearly 70 years of age.

IF A small boy, while sweeping a chimney in Washington Row on Thursday afternoon, got by mistake into the flue of the chimney of the adjoining house. A fire was burning below, and the boy was suffocated and fell, and was caught in a narrow part of the flue. Efforts were immediately made to get him out by cutting a hole in the chimney, but it was an hour before he was extricated and then he was almost lifeless, and it was doubtful whether he would live. > A NEW FRENCH NOVEL. PAULINE.

Translated from the French of ALEXANDRE DUMAS by a Lady of Virginia. Dumas is one of the most popular and brilliant writers of the day, and "PAULINE" is the production more than any other calculated to display the various powers of his imagination, and the excellence of his style. It has been admirably translated by an accomplished Lady of Virginia; the picturesqueness and force of the original have been retained, and all idlomatic words and phrases carefully avoided. We have not yet issued a work n which more true genius is displayed. It will be issued on the 1st of November, in an Extra New World (octavo.)

ON WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOV. 2 Price 12½ cents single, stitched in handsome covers. Agents $3 per hundred. Office 30 Ann street.

IF The November Number of the Amerithe Speech of HENRY MEIGS at the opening of the Fair of the American Institute; The Proceedings of the Home Industry Convention, and Remarks of Gen. TALLMADGE: New-England Silk Convention; THE RELATIONS OF WEALTH AND LABOR, being the Annual Address before the American Institute, delivered on Thursday evening, Octo-20 in the Broadway Tahernacle by H of Mass .- an admirable document, and one which ought to be read by every laboring man in the United States; GOV-ERNOR SEWARD'S ADDRESS at the ANNUAL FAIR O Albany on the 29th day of September last; this Address is worth more to every farmer and tiller of the soil, than the entire cost of the Laborer for the year; PROTECTION-WOOL and WOOLENS; Speech of Mr. Slade of Ver mont on the Tariff Bill. In this Speech Mr. Slade stands up as the Representative of the Farmers, and most ably does he vindicate their rights and show how their interests are affected by a proper Tariff.

The American Laborer is devoted exclusively to the adocacy and illustration of the Protection of Home Industry It is designed to present in a compact, cheap, readable form, and in a familiar and practical manner, the most di rect and convincing facts and arguments in support of the policy of Protecting the Industry of our own People. To this end it embodies the ablest Speeches, Reports, Statistic and other documents on the subject.
